

From 1995 to 2019, the International Legislative Drafting Institute conducted two weeks of training each June, overcoming even Hurricane Katrina's destructive impact in 2005 by relocating from Tulane Law School in New Orleans to Washington, D.C., in 2006 and 2007. The Institute's organizers and a select group of speakers decided to celebrate the quarter-century milestone with a "Silver Anniversary" publication of articles written in their diverse areas of expertise.

This International Legislative Drafting Guidebook debuts in the year when a worldwide pandemic forced cancellation of the Institute for the first time in 25 years. Although COVID-19 prevented a 2020 convening of the Institute, this publication enables us to share the wisdom of our speakers with a worldwide audience.

How to Order

from the publisher:

<https://cap-press.com/books/isbn/9781531018016/>
International-Legislative-Drafting-Guidebook
• Use discount code ILDG for a 20% discount and free shipping through Aug. 2021.

ebook on redshelf:

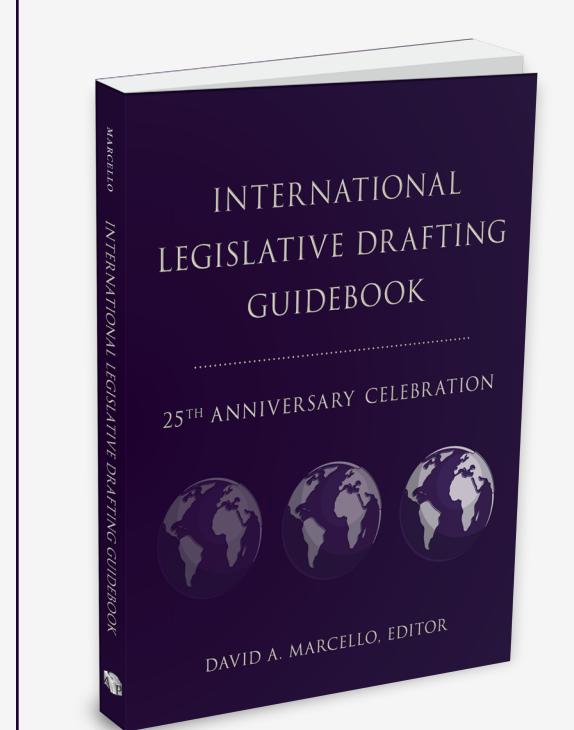

<https://redshelf.com/book/1671345>

ebook on vitalsource:

<https://www.vitalsource.com/products/international-legislative-drafting-guidebook-25th-david-a-marcello-v9781531018023>

Table of Contents

Foreword, Judge James L. Dennis	xii
Introduction, David A. Marcello	3
SECTION I. WRITING IT RIGHT!
Parliamentary Drafting Instructions: Role of the Legislative Drafter, Donald L. Revell	15
Clear Regulations: Not an Oxymoron!, John Strylowski	23
Constitutional Drafting: Poetics and Process, Philip Knight	31
SECTION II. RIGHTING WRONGS!
Drafting Human Trafficking Legislation: Binding Rules and Guiding Rules, Mohamed Y. Mattar	45
Global Failure of Justice Systems: Causes, Consequences, and Remedies, Frank Emmert	57
SECTION III. SAVING THE GLOBE!
Climate Change, Environmental Law, and Legislative Drafting: Perspectives from Ghana, Estelle Matilda Appiah	73
Drafting Environmental Laws, Machelle R. Lee Hall	81
Drafting Agricultural Legislation, Jessica Vapnek	89
ENTR'ACTE I: Photo Gallery
SECTION IV. LEGISLATIVE RELATIONSHIPS
Working with Members, Bruce Feustel	103
The Africa Colloquium: Professional Development of In-House Counsel to Parliaments, Pius Perry Biribonwoha	107
Drafting and Using Negotiation Skills in Legislation, Lou Gieszl	115
SECTION V. AGENCY PRACTICE
American Administrative Rulemaking Procedure: Purposes &amp; Goals of Institute Training, Stephen T. Maher	125
Drafting Legislation to Create an Agency, Board, or Commission, Idella D. Wilson	131
ENTR'ACTE II: Reflections
SECTION VI. GOVERNMENTAL TRANSPARENCY
Establishing a Progressive Access to Information Law, Laura Neuman	177
Drafting Open Meetings Laws, Sharonda R. Williams	185
Data Privacy and Data Security Legislation, Lothar Determann	189
SECTION VII. GOVERNMENTAL WATCHDOGS
Municipal Ethics Reform, David A. Marcello	199
Drafting Local Government Mechanisms for Oversight of Law Enforcement, Susan Hutson	207
Endnotes	213
Speakers and Authors: Biographical Information	247
Institute Graduates: Alphabetical by Jurisdiction	255

This book is dedicated to the legions of legislative drafters around the world who have toiled, more often than not in obscurity, to get the language of legislation right, in order that the representative will of the people should be expressed with clarity.

We thank you for your service in this essential enterprise.

The International Legislative Drafting Institute derives its pedagogical power from the strength of its instructors. Since 1995, Institute participants have received training from some of the most capable and experienced drafters on the globe.

Garth Thornton (Legislative Drafting) and Richard Wydick (Plain English for Lawyers) shared their wisdom on multiple occasions with Institute graduates, who enjoyed a unique opportunity to see them brought together in the classroom. The Guidebook celebrates their presence at the Institute in a Photo Gallery and two remembrances in the Reflections section, where we reprint Garth's "Reflections on a Career in Legislative Drafting."

Legislative drafting experts from around the world have enriched the Institute since its inception 25 years ago. The Guidebook marks this quarter-of-a-century milestone by presenting the distilled wisdom of 18 speakers who have written articles in their diverse areas of expertise, addressing issues of local, national, and international importance.

The Institute curriculum has always gone beyond classroom instruction at Tulane Law School to afford participants practical wisdom about legislative drafting. Each year, we travel to Louisiana's State Capitol in Baton Rouge, where drafting staff offer valuable insights drawn from their own years of experience.

Participants visit House and Senate committee rooms to learn how legislators, staff, and the public interact during committee hearings, including a demonstration of audio-visual capabilities that facilitate transparency in the legislative process.

When the Louisiana Legislature is in session, we observe deliberations on the House or Senate floor. In years when the legislature is not in session, participants may go onto the floor and up on the dais in each chamber, while staff describe how presiding officers and clerks govern the proceedings, how the media cover them, and where lobbyists and the public are permitted to engage with members.

The Institute also introduces its visitors to the charms of South Louisiana. An opening day tour of New Orleans visits several attractions and points out places that participants may want to visit on weekends or during their free time. At Institute receptions and lunches, participants get to know one another; they exchange experiences that fuel an informal learning process outside of the classroom.

We debuted the International Legislative Drafting Guidebook in a worldwide Zoom conference during December 2020. Institute graduates and former speakers came together in a virtual community, sharing an online experience that spanned four continents and broke through the isolation imposed by COVID-19. One participant later observed, "I've been to a lot of conferences, and that didn't feel like a conference. It felt like a family reunion!"

Learn more about the Guidebook and view a brief video about the International Legislative Drafting Institute
by visiting our website:
<https://law.tulane.edu/international-legislative-drafting-institute> or send us an email inquiry via tplc@tulane.edu.